Description: A Capstone project can be a culminating, integrative experience for middle school students. During this two-day workshop, participants will understand the features of powerful Capstone learning experiences, examine examples of Capstone projects, and be provided with tools to design a project that aligns with their individual school goals and curriculum. Participants will collaborate in grade level teams or bands to create a product they can implement back at their schools.

Objectives: Participants will:

- Discuss and examine the key features of an effective Capstone experience
- Use tools to support their planning and implementation of a Capstone experience
- Collaborate to design a learning experience to bring back to their schools

Audience: Teachers for grades 5-8, school and district leaders, coaches, instructional leaders, teams of teachers
