

Why Personalized Learning Matters

Date:
Tuesday,
March 6, 2018
8:30 a.m. – 3 p.m.

Location:
CREC Central
Room 101
111 Charter Oak Ave.
Hartford, CT

Cost:
$100

REGISTER

For a complete listing of CREC's Expert Solutions events, visit
www.crec.org/events

We'll look at why personalized learning matters during this new era for learners in contemporary schools.

What we'll cover

- The characteristics of personalized learning
- How personalized learning compares and contrasts with other instructional approaches or methods
- What personalized learning looks like in the classroom

How you'll benefit

- You will gain a deeper understanding of how personalized learning is an approach of blended instruction that leverages each student's learning style and interest for deeper learning.
- You will be able to develop a strategy for implementing personalized learning in your schools, classrooms, or district.

**Please bring a laptop or other device for note taking and access to online resources.*

For more information,
please contact Najla Staggers,
Education Specialist, at nstaggers@crec.org