The Harvard Family Research Project (HFRP) has identified quality programming and staffing as a critical condition necessary to achieve positive results in afterschool programs. With that, professional development is vital to the enhancement of program quality, staff performance and knowledge and improving student outcomes.

This school year we will focus our 21st Century Community Learning Centers Networking Meetings and other training opportunities on macro to micro areas of professional development.

Meeting dates for this year are:

- October 19, 2018
