Futures planning is a collaborative approach that helps staff, parents, and students develop a long-range plan to guide the Individualized Education Program (IEP).

This one-day workshop will instruct participants on how to prepare for, facilitate, and utilize a PATH (Planning Alternative Tomorrows with Hope) Futures Planning session and a MAPS (McGill Action Planning System) Futures Planning session. Participants will practice facilitating a PATH and MAPS session during the workshop.

Presenter:

Mary Jo Terranova, Education Specialist, has provided training on a variety of practices that support excellence in educating students with disabilities.
